Experience leading remote builds:
At Atutechs Corp, I've led several remote development initiatives from planning to deployment. My role involved coordinating cross-functional teams across time zones, setting up structured sprint cycles, managing version control workflows, and ensuring technical alignment on project goals. This included overseeing code reviews, blockers, QA cycles, and timely releases—especially important in a remote-first environment.

Scaling apps beyond 10,000 users:
Yes. As the lead developer at Atutechs Corp, I played a central role in scaling applications beyond 10,000 active users. Notably, I led the mobile development efforts for a major project delivered to Taj Bank, which has since surpassed 100,000+ downloads on the Play Store. My responsibilities included architecting core features, guiding the team on performance and security best practices, and ensuring the app's stability under increasing user load.
